“So how did they do this thing? The hand signs triggered the remote activation of the squib. They had the squib activated on signal and then break and produce a fake wound, with some blood. There were people taking "cell phone footage" in the immediate proximity, but no one outside the operation was allowed to get that close. Then they sent their "cell phone footage" to the AI guys who added more blood and accidentally moved his ring to his little finger. They didn't notice the ring problem and sent the doctored footage to the news networks, who made sure the whole world saw it. That way anyone in the crowd would have seen the phase 1 squib event, so as to think it was real, and the phase 2 AI doctored footage was broadcast far and wide. Definitely a Hollywood/Mossad-style operation.

“The commotion and arrest of the George Zinn character was part of the operation. It was done to direct our attention away from the ‘shooting’ and toward this fake ‘suspect’ to give the AI guys time to doctor the footage so it could be sent out to the media for wide distribution. Once the doctored footage was ready to go, the news no longer focused on the fake suspect. All attention moved to the fake shooting footage.

“The hand signs: First Charlie touched his nose to indicate that he was ready to start. Then the guy in white (Frank Turek) touched the bill of his hat and then his top lip. Then the guy in black put out his (right) arm and then touched it above his elbow with his (left) hand. This was a signal to a guy in a brown shirt in the front row of the audience to activate the squib. Right after the guy in black made his arm/hand sign, the guy in brown put out his (left) arm and touched it above the elbow with his (right) hand. The remote was in the left sleeve of the guy in brown, and when he touched his arm he activated the squib. Then he ducked down a little and focused his attention on Charlie; when he saw that the mission had been accomplished he gave a smile of satisfaction and then took off.

“Then they grabbed Charlie and carted him off to a waiting SUV. No putting him on the ground, no towel or fabric pressed on the wound to stop the bleeding, no EMTs, no ambulance, no medical equipment, and no stretcher. And no blood as the guys carry Charlie to the van by his arms and legs. No blood anywhere. FAKE.”

The FBI has put the word out that they are now collecting video from those in attendance. They plan to lose it forever, like on 9/11.
